THE HUMANITIES AND THE DIGITAL HUMANITIES

Professor Peter K. Bol

Vice Provost for Advances in Learning
Carswell Professor of East Asian Languages and Civilizations
Harvard University

包弼德教授

Professor Peter K. Bol is the Vice Provost for Advances in Learning and the Charles H. Carswell Professor of East Asian Languages and Civilizations. As Vice Provost he is responsible for HarvardX, the Harvard Initiative in Learning and Teaching, and research that connects online and residential learning. Together with William Kirby he teaches ChinaX (SW12x) course, one of the HarvardX courses that has a global enrollment of over 45,000. His research is centered on the history of China's cultural elites at the national and local levels from the 7th to the 17th century. He led Harvard's university-wide effort to establish support for geospatial analysis in teaching and research; in 2005 he was named the first director of the Center for Geographic Analysis. He also directs the China Historical Geographic Information Systems project, a collaboration between Harvard and Fudan University in Shanghai to create a GIS for 2000 years of Chinese history. In a collaboration between Harvard, Academia Sinica, and Peking University he directs the China Biographical Database project, an online relational database currently of 380,000 historical figures that is being expanded to include all biographical data in China's historical record over the last 2000 years.
